

Appendix A: Community Engagement Summary

Section 65583 (c) (7) of the Government Code states that, "The local government shall make diligent effort to achieve public participation of all economic segments of the community in the development of the housing element, and the program shall describe this effort." A discussion of citizen participation is provided below.

The City of Encinitas conducted an extensive public outreach process beginning in 2014 to prepare a 2013-2021 Housing Element. Outreach efforts included 45 presentations, numerous mailers and ads, and community dialogue sessions attended by 479 persons. That effort culminated in the adoption of a 2013-2021 Housing Element by the City Council in June 2016 and its placement on the November 2016 ballot as Measure T. However, the voters did not approve Measure T.

The City immediately began an effort to adopt a revised 2013-2021 Housing Element to be submitted to the voters in the November 2018 election. On November 16, 2016, even before the certification of the Measure T election results on December 13, 2016, the City Council approved the formation of a Housing Element Subcommittee to work with all groups to adopt a Housing Element. The City Council held a special community workshop on February 1, 2017, attended by well over 100 people, to discuss adoption of an adequate Housing Element and also held a special meeting on February 6, 2017, at which it appointed a Housing Element Update Task Force, comprised of the Council Subcommittee and two public members, including one supporter and one opponent of Measure T. Eleven public meetings were held by the Task Force in 2017, two of which were joint meetings with the City Council, in addition to regular updates to the City Council. In 2018, five joint Task Force-City Council meetings, two community meetings, two stakeholder meetings, and public hearings at both the Planning Commission and City Council were held. All meetings were advertised to an extensive mailing list (hard copy and email/e-alert) and the City maintained a web site with all information submitted to the Task Force, City Council, and Planning Commission; public comments; and correspondence with the Department of Housing and Community Development. The meetings were attended by, among others, representatives of the San Diego Housing Federation, Building Industry Association, affordable housing and market-rate developers, and many community members. Refer to Appendix A for the public notice mailing list and available public oral comments, meeting minutes, and meeting notes. This draft Housing Element is the product of this public participation process.

An earlier draft of this Housing Element was placed on the November 2018 ballot as Measure U and did not receive majority vote. On December 12, 2018, Judge Ronald Frazier of the San Diego Superior Court ordered the City to adopt a Housing Element consistent with State law within 120 days or by April 11, 2019.

As required by Government Code Section 65585(b)(2), all written comments regarding the Housing Element made by the public have previously been provided to each member of the City Council.

Table A-1 shows the date or anticipated date of each meeting for the housing element. Available public oral comments, meeting minutes and meeting notes for each meeting shown in the table are provided within Appendix A.

- Community Member – Likes the open approach to the meetings.
- Sheila – ADUs are grandfathered. Look at Oceanside bonds. Use the original General Plan, not overlay. Downtown site should be off the table. Why start with existing sites?

Meeting Notes

Meeting Overview

The City of Encinitas held the first Stakeholder Meeting as a part of the community outreach effort associated with the current Housing Element Update on Wednesday, February 28, 2018 from 3:30 – 5:00pm in the Poinsettia Room at City Hall. The purpose of the meeting was to gather feedback from people who understand the current development environment in Encinitas on what types of policy and programmatic changes could help encourage development, specifically of low-income housing, within the city.

The meeting consisted of a short presentation by Kimley-Horn, followed by a facilitated discussion amongst all meeting attendees. Major topics discussed at the meeting included development standards, entitlement processing, and fees and exactions. The following is a detailed summary of the information provided by meeting attendees throughout the discussion.

Development Standards

- Reference the City of San Diego Affordable Housing Parking Study
 - Focus on the proximity of sites to transit
 - Occupancy guidelines
 - Study shows that affordable housing can require less cars than market-rate housing
- Planning for autonomous vehicles
- Should explore different standards for affordable housing vs. market rate
- Two stories is extremely limiting to potential development
- Senior living includes additional costs (EG elevators) that make development harder
- Rental versus for sale development

- It is not possible for the affordable units of a development to be the same size as the market-rate
 - Can this be changed?
 - Potentially mesh with tax credit unit size
- Grouping of low-income units as opposed to interspersed – Iris example
 - Private management is a potential option for low-income developments
- What gets in the way of developing more units?
 - Zoning density
 - Height
 - Differences in how it is calculated make a big difference
 - The type of product (detached/attached/mixed-use)
- Minimum of three stories needed to accommodate parking on affordable units
 - Ideal height is 37' measure from the pad level
- Common and private usable open space
 - Limiting factor
- Density bonus numbers for parking
 - Can encourage smaller units through parking requirement changes

Entitlement Processing

- “Not late hits” policy – both by the City and the developer
 - Increases efficiency
 - Counter-level approval for by-right
- Implement a phased submittal process with a first phase that doesn’t require as much detail
 - Custom lot process
 - Pre-application mandatory meeting
- What processes can be done concurrently?
- Add flexibility to mitigate influencing factors
- “Cities are afraid of design” – too many constraints

Fees and Exactions

- Fees are comparable to other cities
- Not as important as the type of product (look at S.F. v Per Unit fees)
- Need to look at all fees and ask, “Do current fees encourage development of affordable units?”
- Fee structure limits
- Fee is the same amount regardless of the size of the project, which can create high fees for smaller projects
- Difference between an incentive and an offset
 - Incentives need to give the developer something of value
 - Setback example given
 - Avoid creating penalties that can limit development
- Gap financing
 - Low Income tax credit needed
 - Gap (amount of time) is growing

- Fee waivers
- Land donation often needed
- Deferral of fees until occupancy (current City protocol) is extremely helpful
- Impact fees paid over time instead of front loading
- Potential to create a mechanism to allow developers the ability to transfer low-income units from one development to another
 - Require more low-income units if done

Conclusion

Meeting attendees expressed that the three most important factors that influence the ability to develop low-income housing in Encinitas are height restrictions, parking requirements, and open space requirements. Attendees also emphasized that a high level of certainty and time are more important than a lowering of the fees associated with development.

Stakeholder Meeting #2

Date: April 4, 2018

Time: 3:30pm – 5:00pm

Attendees:

City of Encinitas

- Brenda Wisneski, City of Encinitas
- Diane Langager, City of Encinitas
- Nicole Piano-Jones, City of Encinitas
- Laurie Winter, City of Encinitas

Consultants

- Barbara Kautz, Goldfarb & Lipman
- Dave Barquist, Kimley-Horn
- Nick Chen, Kimley-Horn

Stakeholders

- Ron Brockhoff, Development Manager – Chelsea Investment Corporation
- Nick Lee, Baldwin @ Sons/Heritage Building
- Michael McSweeney, BIA San Diego
- Lori Pfeiler, San Diego Habitat for Humanity

Stakeholder Comments on Proposed Development Standards:

Development Standards Table

- Difference between offset (city pays for increased costs) vs incentive (city lowers costs)
- Proposed 25 – 30 du/ac
 - Potential impact of density bonus after 11% affordability
 - Could potentially apply for a waiver for additional height
- Lot Area
 - 10,000 SF allows for potential subdivision of a portion of the site (sometimes financing requires separate lots and different owners)
 - Noted that at least 16 units must be achieved on every site
 - Comfortable with keeping 10,000 sf minimum lot sizes
- Lot width and depth (75' min for both)
 - OK if for exterior site dimensions only
 - Building separation standards can govern internal lot lines
 - Financing and other reasons could impact the actual development and how subdivision of parcels impacts lot lines
- Setbacks
 - Along Highway 101 – move front setbacks closer to the lot line
 - Existing standards and policies regarding irregular lots or other situations should still apply

- Interior lot setbacks at 10' with a subdivision project creates a potential 20' setback between buildings
 - Consider reducing interior lot setbacks and require a larger project perimeter (exterior boundaries) setback similar to how PRDs are handled (20' or 25')
- Lot coverage
 - 80% lot coverage probably OK; 60 – 65% would be a problem
 - Assumes uncovered parking is not counted in lot coverage calculation (current policy)
 - Specific plan area sites may permit > 80%
 - Setbacks, amenity space, and undulation will dictate building size, so may not need lot coverage
 - Nick Lee noted he would provide example projects he has seen in Long Beach
- Parking
 - Reduced parking is critical to achieve 30 du/ac in non-structured parking with three-story height limit.
 - 3 stories, non-structured parking generally can yield 25 du/ac assuming 1.8 spaces/unit average across all units
 - Tough to structure parking for 30 DU/AC unless project is large enough to spread costs
 - Affordable housing parking standards (City of San Diego example) – lowered parking standards to fit the actual need
 - Otay Ranch (Chula Vista) parking example
 - Smaller standards that are inclusive of guest parking
 - City's existing parking rates are too high
 - Don't work for an affordable project
 - Density bonus law will limit parking that can be required
 - The market will tell how much parking is needed
 - Typical costs for structured parking is $35,000/stall with $15,000/stall for surface parking
 - Example jurisdictions for parking
 - City of San Diego (Affordable standard)
 - Provides different standards for affordable housing (reduced parking ordinance)
 - Below are sample standards that attendees offered as examples they have seen in other jurisdictions
 - Studio: 1 space (inclusive of guest)
 - 1 bdrm: between 1.5 spaces (inclusive of guest)
 - 2 bdrm: 2 spaces (inclusive of guest)
 - 3+ bdrm: 2.25 spaces (inclusive of guest)
 - Reduced parking standards are an incentive to do more inclusionary housing units
 - Location (proximity to transit facilities) should factor into standards
 - Require that people park in garages, can't be used for storage only
 - Parking is more likely to be used for parking if it is uncovered (can only be used for one thing – parking)

- Open parking is most cost effective for maximum flexibility
 - City of San Diego requires 240 cubic feet of storage per unit
- Height standard
 - Existing point of measure – Prop A
 - Lower of natural or finished grade
 - Prop A took away standard allowing measurement from pad
 - Want to be able to measure from post-grading pad
 - Fill is often required to achieve adequate drainage
 - Some properties are much lower than street level, and this would have little impact
 - Almost all sites will likely lose at least a couple feet due to existing methodology, 37 feet is a necessity from finish grade
 - Note that the 37-foot limit will not allow pitched roofs
 - Note that density bonus law would allow greater height
- Private space and onsite amenity space
 - Apartment balconies should count as private open space
 - Only specify per unit total open space – 300 sf
 - Provide flexibility when site is in close proximity to open space, parks, beaches
 - Have incentives for creating internal (usable) amenity spaces – give some sort of credit for higher quality spaces
 - Depending on the project, it may be beneficial to have a mix of on-site and off-site open space
- Wall plane and Stepback standards
 - How far does remaining 25% of wall not on single wall plane need to be set back?
 - Step back – be clear on language of where the line is drawn for outdoor space
 - Focus on alleviating the impacts of a third story
 - Simplify step back text
- Private storage
 - With uncovered parking, storage is provided as a closet on the balcony

Fees and Exactions

- Compression of approval time is more important than the fees
- Incentive: Certain timeline (exact timeline) for inclusionary projects
- Quality of the plan check is an important factor
- Ideally would like fees to be paid even after issuance of certificate of occupancy; recognized security problems
